Governor Declares His Program Will Provide Balanced Budget

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot submitted to Pennsylvania's assembly a balanced budget and pleaded with the legislators to center their financial attention on two problems—providing unemployment relief and reducing the burden of local taxes.

The new budget he sponsors calls for appropriations of $158,000,000 for the two years beginning next June 1, or $34,000,000 less than the amount for the current biennium. Repeating his recommendations of a week ago, the governor asked for an additional $35,000,000 savings in local government costs. He emphasized that pursuit of these suggestions would relieve all Pennsylvania taxpayers $50,000,000 for two years and still leave $20,000,000 to aid the jobless.

Anticipates Huge Items.
The total of estimated revenue, however, anticipates two huge items. One is $17,400,000 in inheritance taxes from the Dorrance estate, still in the courts, the other $9,600,000 from the Delaware river bridge. This $27,000,000 represents more than one-sixth of the entire budget figure.

"Two great budget problems before you," the governor said, "are to determine what is to be done about unemployment relief and to what extent you are going to lighten the load of government on the local real property taxpayer. The state budget is balanced."

He went farther and offered his solution of these two problems, re-

PA NEW OBSERVES

The Boy Scouts of the county, as elsewhere the country over, celebrated the 23rd anniversary of their organization's founding with a fitting observance last night—you could match the 1932 accomplishments of the locals against any of the larger councils and still their showing would measure up well.

Prof. F. L. Orth let out an inkling this week of what the January 27th commencement of the senior high school's newest class will be like. There'll be no speakers, but in place of them a colorful pageant will be given. It seems the drift everywhere to the "demonstration" type graduations is becoming more pronounced.

Until February 4 the flag on the Public Square pole will fly at that half-mast position to remind us all that a great American is gone. National mourning covers a 30-day period.

For months the City Rescue Mission and charitable groups the city over have endeavored to brush "panhandlers" entirely from the streets, but now the mission is organizing to make a more vigorous try. Churches, clubs, homes and everybody will be enlisted in the campaign—partly undertaken because one "panhandler" nabbed temporarily by a North Hill resident recently, carried a bag containing about $40 in nickels and dimes.

WIDOW REVEALS HER BIZARRE LIFE

Mrs. Schildhauer's Story Gives No New Clue On Husband's Slaying

Admits Rendezvous With Other Men—Didn't Know The Kidnapers

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Frances Schildhauer's frank and detailed description of her bizarre home life admittedly brought police no nearer a solution today of the "ride" murder of her husband although she did disclose a secret tryst with another man on the afternoon of the murder.

The young widow admitted that she had the rendezvous with Carl Bradberry, ex-deputy sheriff who is held in connection with the mysterious murder of Bandmaster Edwin O. Schildhauer. Bradberry has admitted that he and Mrs. Schildhauer had had intimacies.

To Police Captain John Stege's question as to whether Bradberry was the man she had seen kidnap her husband and take him away in the automobile in which he was murdered, the beautiful widow calmly replied, "No."

Modified River Project Is Urged For This District

Hearing At Washington On Canal From Ohio River To Youngstown

NEW CASTLE MEN ATTEND MEETING

District Representatives Seek New Report On Modified Project

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Withdrawing support from the original canalization program for the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango Rivers as rejected by army engineers, a delegation of more than thirty representatives from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio today petitioned the Rivers and Harbors Board to consider a modified river project and refer it back to the army engineers for judgment.

The modified project would reduce the cost of the improvement substantially by reducing the length of the proposed canal so as to reach only the lower part of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Mill. At the same time the modified project calls for a wider and deeper channel than sought in the original improvement program.

PEIPING, Jan. 10.—Japanese cavalry has penetrated inside the great wall in the vicinity of Chiumenkou, General Ho Chikuo, Chinese commander, reported to Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang by telephone this afternoon.

General Ho said that no clash had yet occurred, but reported the advance of Japanese forces both inside and outside the great wall. Chiumenkou, he said, is being defended by the third brigade of Chinese cavalry, which is standing by ready to engage the Japanese horsemen. The general added that the Shih river front was quiet.

Court Never Given Data On Which To Distribute Reward

It was learned this morning that there is nothing before the court so far as a distribution of the $3200 reward offered for the capture of the slayers of Corporal Brady Paul is concerned. All that Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers know of the case is "just what they have read in the papers."

This may be a surprising revelation to the patient claimants who think that they ought to get their money for capturing Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague in the wilds of Arizona, but it appears to be the fault of the attorneys involved in the case.

On December 11th, 1931, Elmer E. Hogue, of New Castle, who happened to be in Phoenix at the time of the capture and identified the prisoners, filed a suit against Commissioners of Lawrence county in which he set forth his claim.

Later in Arizona claimants became parties to the suit by filing their dispositions here. Subsequently Judge R. L. Hildebrand directed that the reward money, amounting to $3200 be paid into court.

The money, which had been in the hands of the county commissioners, was turned over to Pro-

Senate Wets Are Pressing Fight

Despite House Ultimatum, Senate Wets Press For Approval Of Repeal Bill

SHOWDOWN ON BILL COMING

By PAUL C. YATES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Despite an ultimatum from Democratic house leaders, Senate wets laid plans today to press their fight for early approval of the repeal resolution reported favorably by the Senate judiciary committee.

The ultimatum, delivered by Speaker John N. Garner and Rep. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader, put the Senate on notice that the house would not consider the resolution unless it were amended in accordance with Democratic platform pledges.

The provision giving Congress power to legislate against return of the saloon was the chief point of controversy between the Senate judiciary committee and the Democratic house chieftains.

This provision was viewed with misgivings by a number of Senate wets, including both Democrats and Republicans.

Former President Aware Of Heart Ailment Is Now Declared

Estate Is Left To Widow—Size Of Estate Not Definitely Known

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Calvin Coolidge, late ex-president, knew he was a doomed man for some time before his sudden death from heart disease.

The fact that the former president was "not insurable" was said today to be common knowledge among insurance executives.

It was said Coolidge applied for $200,000 worth of insurance within the last year and that he was turned down as a poor risk.

The physical examination was reported as disclosing that his heart was weak.

Kept His Secret.

The cause of death in his Northampton home was subsequently given as coronary thrombosis, or bursting of an artery leading into the heart.

True to his life-long reputation for keeping his own counsel, the silent man from the Vermont mountains apparently told neither relative nor friend of his precarious condition.

In the general insurance field, where executives and agents manage to maintain a fairly accurate grapevine of information as to the amount of insurance leading Americans are carrying, there was only speculation on the value of policies Coolidge might have maintained.

Five In Family Meet Death As Result Of Fire

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Jan. 10.—Fire early today suffocated an entire family, the five members of which were trapped in a third story room by the flames. A sixth occupant of the house, Mrs. Nettie Young, 50, leaped from a second story window, suffering a broken leg. She also was burned.

The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hewitt, Cecil, Jr., Evelyn, a daughter, and Corenda Bowen, Mrs. Hewitt's sister.

The good old days were not so hot, if you want to know what I think, and bring them back and today you'd find that things would be on the blink. We wouldn't have lights nor water or gas, that is not the kind we have now, and folks would be yelling for modern devices in just about one day I trow. But there's one thing we didn't have back in those days, and we should get back soon or much sooner, we didn't have singers with tonsil strained tones, the ubiquitous radio crooner. And this was a blessing I rather imagine, for nights were not jazz like and blue, in the days that the crooner was still out of sight, the weather is just jazy two.

PARTY HARMONY IS ROOSEVELT'S AIM

Roosevelt Will Try To Smooth Out Democrats

President-Elect Will Be Called Upon To End Confusion In Ranks

CONFERENCE HAS UPSET HARMONY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt will be called upon to end the confusion pervading Democratic ranks when he holds conferences with congressional leaders here on January 19. The President-elect is scheduled to stop here en route to Warm Springs, Ga.

The differences of opinion among Democratic leaders has been accentuated since the New York conference.

Opinions Differ
They differ as to the decision on a budget balancing program which includes an increase in income taxes.

The President-elect is being quoted by Senator Glass (D) of Virginia, as favoring his banking bill, including branch banking, while Senator Long (R) of Louisiana, says Mr. Roosevelt opposes it.

Several Democratic senators voted for provisions in the prohibition repeal resolution which Speaker Garner of the House asserts are directly contrary to the promise of the Democratic national platform. President-elect Roosevelt may be asked to interpret the platform promise.

PINCHOT SUBMITS HIS BUDGET PLAN TO ASSEMBLYMEN

iterating the government revisions he suggested in his message last week. Changes in tax collection methods would provide the $20,000,000 for relief, and the six-point program he advanced would furnish the $35,000,000 reduction in local tax burdens, the governor maintained.

In addition, the motor license fund budget, conducted entirely apart from the general fund which maintains the commonwealth, both as to revenue and expenditure would be reduced more than $20,000,000 under his proposals.

Free of Invetive.
The budget message today was entirely free of ridicule and invective. His only reference directly to the conduct of the assembly was a suggestion in mild terms that legislative and judicial expenses take a reduction, pointing out that the costs of the executive, treasury and auditor general departments have been reduced 18 per cent from the present biennium's appropriation.

The governor said the amounts included in the budget for legislative and judicial expenses are essentially the same as were appropriated for 1931-32. "The budget has been balanced wholly at the expense of the executive department," he added. "In all fairness to the taxpayers both the legislature and the judiciary should contribute their share by accepting lowered appropriations."

Legislative leaders have already indicated the payroll of their department will be 25 per cent less than the figure allowed two years ago.

Explains Budget.
Explaining the budget, Governor Pinchot said:

"Three central aims have been kept in mind in making this budget. The first aim is by economy and good management to make up for the slump in revenues without imposing new taxes. The second is to provide unemployment relief without new taxes. The third is not only to avoid new taxes but actually to give relief to the local real property taxpayer—farmers and home owners in particular—by reducing the taxes they are paying now."

Declaring that the nature of the commonwealth's expenditures are commonly misunderstood, the governor emphasized that three-quarters of the money goes to reduce the taxes of local taxpayers.

Fifty-eight per cent of the general fund budget, or $91,000,000, goes for subsidies to schools, state-aided hospitals and institutions, mothers' pensions animal indemnities and care of indigent insane, he asserted. "Every cent of this vast sum is in relief of local taxpayers."

Easy To Talk.
He added: "It is easy to talk about huge reductions and economies. . . . If you care nothing about the needs of the people and the services which they have been in the habit of receiving, and which they have a right to receive, from the government of the state, it might even be in order to cripple or destroy these many helpful state agencies."

"But when there is no debt, when there are no new taxes in sight, but on the contrary large reductions in present taxes, then it would be mere foolishness to hamstring the state government at a time when the people are turning to it for help as never before."

Justifies His Figures.
The governor analyzed state finances to show that the departments under his control actually cost the general taxpayer only $10,225,000 a year. He justified this figure by pointing out that the appropriations to his departments do not represent net costs because they, excluding the department of revenue, bring in over $3,000,000 a year.

"I do not mean the meaning of the word," he added.

One of the few increases he recommended was that of the public service commission. "The budget contains a badly needed increase of $250,000 for the public service commission. If granted, this increase will result in savings many times $250,000, to the people of Pennsylvania."

He suggested, however, that utilities should pay for their regulation, just as banks and insurance companies do, instead of saddling the cost on the general taxpayer.

To Complete Pymatuning.
He recommended, with regrets, that the public school subsidies be cut nearly $4,000,000. The allowance for teachers' colleges and state-aided universities would be cut even more drastically. He recommended $500,000 to complete the Pymatuning dam project and $200,000 to aid the veterans, as compared with $100,000 fixed at the last regular session and $300,000 at the special session.

The governor cited large and numerous savings effected in the purchase of automobiles, custody of funds, postage and elimination of work duplication.

Turning from the general fund budget to the motor license fund, Governor Pinchot offered a highway department program with costs reduced to $104,000,000 from the present two-year figure of $124,600,000. He allocated $46,800,000 for maintenance and construction of the state highway system, $11,700,000 of that amount being necessary to match federal aid funds, $1,584,000 for construction and maintenance of state highways in cities. After taking out sufficient for administration, there would be left $41,985,000, or 40 per cent of the total funds for construction and maintenance of the rural highway system, which will include, if the remaining township roads are taken over as he suggested, some 70,000 miles.

Governor Pinchot said the additional mileage can be maintained and construction can be done under the budget he submitted, adding that if any substantial construction program is undertaken another cent tax on gasoline would be necessary.

The executive concluded his message with a challenge to the legislature to compare the budget with that of any other state.

He said:
"If you are in any doubt as to what has been accomplished in this budget, I suggest that you compare it with the budget of any other state in America. You will find no other like it."

"The commonwealth, as I have said before, stands like a rock in the swirling currents of the depression. We may well be proud of the financial soundness and solidity of the Keystone state, and take courage in the midst of the great trial in her unshaken strength and her unquestioned ability to meet the test of the future. Whatever else may totter, Pennsylvania is firm. Whatever else may default, Pennsylvania is solvent. Whatever else may tremble, Pennsylvania is unafraid."

Philosophy of the political experts: "If I use big enough words in saying 'I don't know' it'll sound like I do know."

Verdicts Agreed Upon In School Bus Accident

Awards Amounting to $2325 Are Made In Cases Bought By Salatas

VERDICTS AWARDED IN 2 OTHER CASES

Five verdicts growing out of a school bus accident on the Mt. Jackson-Enon road, were returned by a jury under direction of Judge James A. Chambers Monday afternoon, following an agreement of the parties interested.

The suits were brought by Mike Salata, in behalf of his children who were injured, against W. W. Smeal, bus driver, and Frank Corwin, owner of a truck. The bus was passing the truck, and according to the claim of the bus driver the truck veered to the left, forcing the school bus into the ditch, where it overturned.

Under the verdicts returned they are all against Smeal, the jury finding for the defendant, as to Corwin. The damages awarded were as follows: Mike Salata, Jr., $700, and to his father, Mike Salata Sr. $825; Margaret Salata, $500; Anna Salata, $100; John Salata, $100, and Joseph Salata, $100.

Other Cases
In the case of M. Belle Emery against the Mahoning Savings and Trust Association, a verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant for $125. The case grew out of a levy made by the Mahoning Savings and Trust Association on an automobile as the property of D. M. McMahon.

M. Belle Emery filed an interpleader, in which she claimed the car. This claim was unsupported by the evidence.

In the case of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation against J. Clyde Gillfillan guardian of Mary Elizabeth Gillfillan, now for use of Mary Elizabeth Gillfillan, Ralph Hartman and Asenath Hartman, the court directed a verdict for $650 in favor of the defendant, reserving the right to pass upon questions of law, and enter a final decree later.

Scoutmen Banquet Here, Re-elect Round President

Challenged to a great work in a stirring address by their council president at the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Council of the Boy Scouts, the members and leaders attending last night's event went on record as unanimously backing the program of growth as planned in the Ten Year Achievement for the Boy Scouts of America.

Leaders, Scouts Attend
It was a notable meeting in a number of ways. Seventy councilmen, troop committeemen and scoutmasters, assistants and commissioners were on hand, with several troops like New Castle Troops 7 and V-18, West Pittsburg 1, New Castle 3, and V-37 having especially good turnouts. Council committee reports were mimeographed for reference so that members could take them home and go over them at leisure.

Region Three made a worthwhile contribution to the meeting when Harman D. Denny, Jr., president of the Allegheny County Council (West) brought the greetings of national and regional headquarters. A message from Walter W. Head, president of the National council, and also a message from Region Three also in Philadelphia was received. Mr. Denny drew from his own personal experiences in recent chest campaign work in Pittsburgh and showed how even in these times men are impressed by the need of scouting for the youth of today.

He praised the local president and executive for their work and said they were well known in Region Three, and complimented the men present on the work they were doing. He asked that support be given the regional and national offices in the work they were doing under reduced resources and pointed the way for greater work in the future.

Round Is Renamed
Louis B. Round, reelected president, made a real address on the work scouting has accomplished in this county during the past decade, contrasting the one troop working in 1922 and the twenty-nine troops active today. He showed by charts how the work had progressed, its peaks and drops, and also showed the steady advance which troops had been making in better trained scouts—the tenderfoot rank being lowered and the second and first class ranks raised.

He then showed what the ten year program of growth would mean in terms of new scouts to give the council a steady increase and also to take care of unavoidably dropped scouts, and challenged the men to take up this work for the coming decade; which they did by acclaim.

Will Lead Council
Balloting for council officers resulted in the following: president, L. B. Round; vice-presidents, Rev. C. S. Bennett, Judd C. Turner and E. K. Thacker; scout commissioner, Ralph Davis; scout executive, H. G. Horton; district commissioner, James Hereford; chairman Ellwood district, Judd C. Turner; vice-chairmen, Nelson Runyan and Charles Ziegler; field executive, Earle K. Herbert; members of commissioner staff, Harry Cullford, Dr. T. J. McFate, A. Ron McGoy, Elmer Tinstman, Elden Danner, Harold McCullough, Walter C. DeArment, Dr. J. A. Gillespie, Howard Kirk, Jr., Owen P. Fox. In addition to the members at large carried through from last year, these men were elected: Dr. Genovese, W. L. Dean, Rev. H. D. Maxwell, William Hampton, Charles Adams, C. H. Blank and James Hereford from Ellwood district, and C. W. Bolen, W. J. Caldwell, Rev. C. L. Ferguson, Rabbi A. J. Gross, W. Wilson Howe, Joel McKee, Guy Wadlinger and Rev. N. A. White from New Castle district.

BITING ATTACKS AROUSE CAPITOL

minutes earlier completed a half hour's speech denouncing the governor, offered the motion that reference to Mrs. Pinchot be stricken from the record.

The Dauphin senator's tirade was directed, too, at the employment of a press representative in the governor's office at $5,000 a year and charged that employee, M. H. Davies, was able to influence newspaper correspondents.

The senator said he was told to expect two columns in a particular newspaper after a certain speech, but actually got only about ten lines because James went among newsmen and told them "cut hell out of Reed."

Mayor On State Payroll
Reed declared that Ambrose Langan, mayor of Pittston, was listed on the payroll of the executive department as an economy expert at $6,000 a year and that he was actually at the capitol only 63 days in a year.

He introduced a resolution providing that a committee of seven senators be named to investigate the governor's charges of extravagance against the legislature and the general charges of extravagances in the executive departments. The measure was laid over for printing.

It was Reed's second week in the senate. He served two terms in the house but was absent from the extraordinary session of the assembly last summer because of illness which confined him to a sanitarium.

"Lying Insult"—Pinchot
Harrisburg, Jan. 10.—Governor Gifford Pinchot today termed the attack made on Mrs. Pinchot by Senator George L. Reed on the Senate floor last night as a "lying insult."

Senator Reed, after assailing the governor for alleged extravagances, turned his wrath upon Mrs. Pinchot. The Reed attack was so supercharged with vitriol that all references to the governor's wife were stricken, by an almost unanimous vote, from the Senate record.

"The lying insult to Mrs. Pinchot as part of the organization's attack on this administration is beneath contempt," the governor said today. "I resent it profoundly and so will every right-minded person in the whole state."

While a member of the House Senator Reed was constantly vocal in his attacks on the Pinchot administration, but until last night did not involve Mrs. Pinchot in his charges against the present administration.

During the 1932 special session Senator Reed, then a member of the lower branch, was confined to an institution where he was treated for a nervous disorder.

DR. ROBERT P. MILES TALK TO CLUB WOMEN

A large group of women, members and guests of the New Castle Woman's Club, assembled in the Highland United Presbyterian church Monday afternoon to hear Dr. Robert Parker Miles, world traveler, newspaper man and preacher, give a most dramatic lecture on some of his vast experiences.

He took the women with him as he travelled from place to place, stopping a few minutes at interesting places, telling of his investigations while special editorialist and investigator for the New York Journal.

Some of his interviews he related in part, meetings with Theodore Roosevelt, and other great men of our own country; then he took his audience abroad and gave them snatches from interviews with Bismarck, the kaiser, the pope of Rome, describing the beauties of the building and countries as well as telling characteristics of the people he interviewed. His talk was most interesting and it was with regret the women heard him close, although his closing remarks were a beautiful tribute to the women of the world as he described them as the inspiration, hope and dreams of sons and daughters.

Mrs. E. F. G. Harper, president of the club, announced that the next meeting of the club will be in charge of the Fine Arts Department and a play and book review will feature the meeting, with Mrs. Alvah Shumaker in charge.

PRIMARIES OR CONVENTIONS?

ONCE again the direct primary law in Pennsylvania is under fire, but the attack this time seems to carry with it sufficient force to cause the friends of the primary system some alarm.

The Chapman Bill, passed in the State Senate in the Special Session of 1932, and killed in committee in the House, will be presented again by its sponsor, Senator Leroy Chapman of Venango County, and this time the bill cannot be ridiculed out of existence.

The charge is made that the direct primaries are imperfect and inefficient. Both of the charges are true but certainly not sufficient reason to throw elections back into the hands of the gang politicians. It is true that the direct primaries are imperfect, but what man made law is? Men unfitted for office are nominated by the primary system, but at least it is the peoples' choice and right or wrong the people must be guaranteed their right to choose if we are to continue a democratic form of government.

The Direct Primary Act came out of the Special Session of 1906 when the stench of gang politics in Pennsylvania rose to the high heavens. Millions of dollars were stolen in the completion of the new Capitol, bribery in politics was common, and alarmed by the clamor of the people for relief, a frightened group of legislators gave the people of Pennsylvania the direct primary.

Now the gentlemen who make politics their livelihood would put us back under the old system. They have one argument in their favor, the convention system is less costly.

If the people are to be denied their right to name their candidates why not carry the theory out to its logical conclusion? Let the political overlords decide who the officers of the State should be. This would fit into the argument that cost must be considered, for the only cost then would be the hiring of a back room in a hotel where the state could be made up.

Trading the direct primary for the convention system at least insofar as local offices are concerned means trading inefficiency for greater inefficiency and corruption.

The attempt should be scotched.

APPORTIONING JOBS

Congress and 43 state legislatures during the public economy discussions of the next few weeks will have before them, in all likelihood, the proposal that where husband and wife both hold public jobs one should take a leave of absence or be removed for the sake of economy or to make room for a worker from a family having no income.

Advocates of sex equality are actively opposing every move to bar or remove from public jobs all married women whose husbands are employed, and the Federal Civil Service Commission is backing them up. The one is actuated only by a principle and the other by the dictates of efficiency.

Justice demands that as long as there is insufficient work to go around it should be apportioned among the greatest possible number if that can be accomplished without too great loss of efficiency. There would be no justice in dismissing a wife or husband where their combined incomes only provide the necessities of life. But there is real justice in closing the public trough to a family combine "eating" enough for two or three families.

The argument, sometimes cited, that the anti-married women ruling encourages the breaking of family ties holds little water. Marriage cannot survive on greed alone, nor is anything to be gained by prolonging such a contract.

Public service theoretically involves some patriotism. The double pay envelope, with the exceptions given, is repulsive to true patriotism and real Christian unselfishness under existing economic conditions.

BRAZEN IMPERIALISM

Again Japanese soldiers enter Chinese territory, kill Chinese, bombard a Chinese town and occupy Chinese territory. Again it is not a war of aggression; in fact, no war at all, just a "defensive move."

It is merely a coincidence that the Japanese occupied Jehol, a rocky region which forms a natural rampart of Manchuria and rounds out the territory of Manchukuo, instead of some other sector of a long boundary? Odd how those Chinamen provoke the peace-loving Japs into attacking their most strategic fortresses.

Occupation of Shanhaikwan puts Japan right back where she was during the occupation of Shanghai. Pressure brought to bear upon Tokyo by the United States, Great Britain and the League of Nations forced the evacuation of Shanghai and removed the more serious complications resulting from the Japanese Manchurian policy. Shanhaikwan again complicates the whole situation.

Tokio has fooled nobody. Her designs on China are as plain as her fear of America. Her contempt of China is as strong as her distrust of the Russian Bear. But what is she to gain from these military invasions? Instead of strengthening herself she is but weakening her defenses in case Russia and China do double-team her.

TIME FOR RETRENCHMENT

For officials of the federal treasury the new year could have started off much better, very much better. For these worried gentlemen it meant the close of the first half of the fiscal year, which would have been uneventful enough if it had not found the treasury short by more than $1,150,000,000.

Unless the increased income taxes, which go into effect on March 15, and some other levies bring in a sudden flood of revenue, or congress and the administration cut expenses or find new revenue, the fiscal year will end with a deficit variously estimated at from $1,500,000,000 to $2,300,000,000. This is the prospect that is putting lines under the eyes of treasury officials, who feel a certain responsibility for balancing the budget.

Congress, the white house and the treasury department joined hands and brains in balancing the budget last spring. Individually and collectively they failed because of an excess of optimism. They overestimated the ability of the country to pay either out of business proceeds or individual incomes. No doubt all three were sincere in the conviction that they had balanced the budget.

Has the government learned the one and indisputable lesson of this experience in national financing? That the budget must be balanced by unloading part of the tax burden through government retrenchment, not by loading more taxes on the backs of business and the people?

THE COLLEGE DIPLOMA.

To young people who have finished school and cannot procure jobs.

Because you have a college diploma it does not indicate that you have all the knowledge you will need to make a success in any line you undertake.

In fact the line of study you perfected and to which you devoted the most time and in which you feel most proficient, may not be in demand.

In order to earn a livelihood you may have to learn and pursue a very different course.

Changing world conditions have taken a more practical turn.

Other lines have become more profitable wage-earning avenues.

Therefore, it would be well for graduates to use their leisure in continuing a general line of study.

Some people are too studious to amount to anything in earning money.

But that is not a well-balanced state.

Youth needs contacts with the world to know what is needed and to learn how to approach those to whom they wish to sell their wares.

Too proficient in the art of salesmanship defeats its own purpose.

But practical knowledge of how to interest the average person and get them to want what you have to give, is worth while studying while out of work.

THE GENUINE JOY

What sorrows has a man to tell
If those at home say all is well?
If those he loves report in glee
That health is theirs, what can there be

Of grave anxiety and doubt
For him to sit and fret about?

For what are pain and hurt and care
And all the burdens man must bear
If when the dreary day is o'er
A smiling child is at the door
And at the table where they sit
Is heard the mirth of youthful wit?

Is life a thing to be compressed
Into man's utmost and his best,
Or may it drift along or run
Like summer brooks beneath the sun,
Loving the shore line's flowers and trees
Before they join the mightier seas?

What matters loss of place or pride
Or glory on life's selfish side
If those at home are undismayed
By any petty failure made?
If those we love are hale and strong,
Then nothing can be very wrong.

Office holders do not pay any government income tax. All city, county and state officials pay no tax on the salaries they draw. On the other hand men who make far less have to pay this tax if their income is more than the exemption allowed by law. This is one thing that is hard to understand. Holding a public office also carries with it a pension in many cases. Some day the people will wake up.

Electric Dollar And Barter
Enliven Currency Debates

Mediums Of Exchange In Commercial Transactions Are Scientifically Considered As Gold Transactions
Become Popular Topic Of Interest

Popular discussions of the world's gold supply and the attitude of various nations toward the gold standard as a basis of money have reached the point where new suggestions, such as that of the electric dollar and the use of old-fashioned barter in many communities, receive unprecedented attention. The idea of a uniform standard based upon electrical energy was put forward by Dr. John Pease Norton, economist, before the Association for the Advancement of Science. It would employ certificates of 40 kilowatt hours as standards of value. The discussion at present is largely academic.

"The electric dollar, in the long run," advises the CLEVELAND NEWS, probably would not differ greatly from the gold or silver dollar, and it is doubtful if its current use would be greatly upset if it were adopted tomorrow. But to call it a panacea for hoarding, price fluctuations, panics and depressions is foolish. Electric dollars would be hoarded as much as gold dollars. The instinct of the human race is to accumulate its resources—for a rainy day or for a moment of saving enjoyment. Saving is good; hoarding is bad. But either could be done with one unit of barter as readily as with another. Gold dollars in wide circulation mean work and the exchange of work every where; gold dollars hidden mean no work and starvation for those who work too, but not unless they are continuously circulating.

Dr. Norton's 40-kilowatt hour measure of value, in the opinion of the NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM, "seems to have enough kinship with the 'barter' idea of technology to produce some enlivening family disputes—pride of authorship being what it still is. We see good, however, in discussion and even quarrels that will open the popular mind to new realization of the artificial nature of money as a measure of value—thereby helping to cut new pathways through the mazes of the older, outgrown economics. But when the Smithsonian Institution promises to show the doubling the rate at which grow wheat stores up food energy of present need. The man who makes two blades of grass or wheat

"It is strange," said the observant man, "but very few people are content to do what they are best qualified for. Painters, for instance, long to be musicians. Musicians long to be authors. Authors long to be artists, and so on."

"Quite," said his companion. "But there are exceptions to every rule. I know a young man who has been doing the same thing for years and years, and he seems perfectly satisfied with it."

"Oh," said the observant man, "and what has he been doing?"
"Nothing," came the reply.
"And here is what is asserted to be one of the best stories of the year. It is the story of the learned Oxford don who would never admit himself to be wrong."

The don met a friend and said, "Do you know, yesterday I met Mrs. So-and-So, who is your sister?"
"No," said his friend, "nor my sister; she is my aunt."

"I think," said the don rather acidly, "you will find on reflection that she is your sister."

Weekly Health Talk

"In spite of the great strides in disease prevention that have marked the last thirty years, there yet remains many problems the solution of which rests with the cooperation of the individual. Group and mass control can only go so far. And beyond that point public health officials must largely rely upon individual interest and initiative."

In the latter class, states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"Undoubtedly influenza is prevalent at this time in Pennsylvania. Fortunately however, so far it has not manifested the virulence of the war-days epidemic with the consequent crushing results."

On the other hand, despite its present comparative mildness, many thousands throughout the Commonwealth are now ill and numerous fatalities have been reported.

"In its present form its symptoms may range from a common cold to high fever, backache and prostration. However, pneumonia as a complication represents the real hazard. And as is well known pneumonia is an exceedingly dangerous foe."

"Successfully to fight influenza and its pneumonia peril involves a very simple procedure. But the fact that it demands early application while the victim is yet comparatively fit is the real secret of influenza's power. The remedy is bed upon the first appearances of a cold, and remaining there until advised by the physician that one can safely get out of it.

"To apply this treatment may be inconvenient from business and social standpoints, but its effectiveness is beyond dispute. Literally hundreds of thousands of persons throughout the United States who have passed on throughout the last decade conceivably could be alive today had they been willing to concede the possibilities of the common cold and the so-called light attacks of influenza."

"Even so, prevention is better than cure. And while influenza appears to be no respecter of persons, the careful observance of a few common sense rules will materially strengthen one's armor against attack. 1—Insofar as possible, avoid intimate contact with members of the family who have colds or influenza; 2—Keep the feet dry; 3—Wash hands thoroughly; 4—Avoid unnecessary fatigue; 5—See that the alimentary system is regular and active."

"Everyone should realize that in its mildest form influenza can easily become a very serious matter. A thorough appreciation of this fact and which involves due care to prevent it and proper treatment in case it is unfortunate enough to contract it, will greatly reduce influenza's power."

Spring Harbinger Sings In Bessemer

(Special To The News)
BESSEMER, Jan. 10.—A harbinger of spring was in Bessemer at eight
a. m. today. It was a robin, and according to Chief of Police Archie

HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—Signifi-

appropriations committee, but Senator William D. Mansfield, friendly

even to gain membership on the

The finance committee chairmanship, held two years ago by Sen-

auditor general, went to Senator John J. McClure, Delaware. Executive nominations, also held by Bal-

Parkinson, however, was replaced as law and order chairman by Senator Joseph C. Trainer, Philadelphia.

ton has thought of something that all the others have missed."
"Contrary to the popular belief,"
declares the YAKIMA DAILY RE-PUBLIC, "This country is not suffering from a shortage of money of which there is just as great a supply as ever. There is, in fact, a greater supply of money than can be safely put to work; that is the real trouble. No one knows today where he can invest a dollar and be assured of two necessary factors—reasonable certainty of return and a profit on the investment. The fact that the government can still borrow at ridiculously low rates is proof that the money of the country has not vanished. It is idle because there are no jobs for it to tackle. The condition cannot be overcome by using something and calling it money when it is not."

Development of barter as an aid to business is observed by the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUB-LICAN with reports of barter exchanges, "some with amazingly large operations," and located "from New York and New Jersey to the Pacific coast." That paper adds: "The latest development is the proposal to establish in New York a national clearing house for the barter exchanges which are multiplying throughout the country. The clearing house would enable the separated groups of the unemployed who are organized in local barter systems to exchange goods and services from locality to locality, free the agricultural raw materials of the rural districts for the finished manufactured goods of the cities, without the use of money in the usual form. Already in Salt Lake City the scrip or credit money issued by the management of the barter system there is said to pass current and to be cleared by the banks."

Use of scrip in Atlanta is a subject of comment by the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, which records that the city "has been forced to issue scrip with a face value of $400,000 to pay off 4,000 municipal employes."
That paper explains the working of the system in the southern city:
"The scrip is negotiable, and many of the larger firms of the city are undertaking to accept it at its face value, though they will not give real money in change. The city council has voted to accept scrip in payment of municipal taxes, but made the same rule that no cash is to be paid out in change. One with a tax bill of $15 can pay with one $10 scrip and $5 in money, but he cannot offer two $10 scrip notes and expect to receive $5 in money in change."

Improved overnight

SMARTING, burning and stinging stop instantly—addened, roughened chapped hands become softer, whiter and smoother overnight when you apply NOX-ZEMA. And it is so clean and pleasant use. Not a sticky, greasy ointment that smears and stains—but a snow-white, creamy, soothing, healing cream, instantly absorbed by the skin.

10,000,000 jars of Noxzema are sold yearly. Try it just once and you'll see why!
Ask your druggist for a small jar of Noxzema today.

Dorrance Estate Inheritance Tax Claim Sustained

Supreme Court Refuses To Reconsider Decision Upholding Tax Right

(BULLETIN) (International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—The Pennsylvania supreme court, in a per curiam opinion handed down today, refused to reconsider its decision upholding the right of the Commonwealth to collect inheritance taxes on the $115,000,000 estate of the late Dr. John T. Dorrance, head of the Campbell Soup Company.

Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer wrote the opinion of the court while a dissenting opinion was filed by Justice William I. Schaffer. Judge James B. Drew joined in the dissenting decision but filed no opinion. Pennsylvania laid claim to a tax of more than $17,000,000 on the estate of Dr. Dorrance, while New Jersey, asserting he was a legal resident there, sought to collect a $12,000,000 inheritance tax. The state supreme court, reviewing the case after the United States supreme court, reviewing the case after the United States supreme court, dismissed the appeal of the Dorrance executors on the contention that all constitutional questions were not fully argued before the state supreme court, had once previously held Dr. Dorrance was a Pennsylvanian. The United States supreme court yesterday dismissed a bill in equity filed by the state of New Jersey to prevent Pennsylvania from collecting the tax.

Big Fire Loss Noted Last Year

Three Large Blazes During Year Boost Annual Fire
Loss In New Castle

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF ALARMS IS SEEN

Not only was there a big increase in the annual fire loss here last year, but there was also an increase in the number of alarms for the year, the annual report of Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman, presented to city council shows.

The total fire loss for the year was $373,393, a sharp increase over former years, which was due to three large fires during the year, which accounted for almost $300,000 of this amount in themselves. These were the Capitol Theatre blaze on February 29, Citizens Lumber plant, March 11; and Woods building, March 12.

There were 368 alarms of fire answered, an increase of 22 over 1931. Of this number 24 were outside the city, eight in Shenango township, six in Union township, five in Newshamock township, one each in North Beaver township, South New Castle Boro, and Ellwood City.

Loss by fire which was not covered by insurance amounted to $129,420, the major portion of which was in the Capitol Theatre fire.

Of the alarms received 157 were from boxes, 201 by telephone and 10 through personal calls to the departments interested.

Fire Chief Stockman in his recommendations to council urged the purchase of a new pumper to replace the old Knox pumper, which is now 22 years old. It is only used in reserve now, the old Second ward truck supplanting it at Central station. Another old truck still in service, but which is not recommended to be replaced just yet is the Fourth Ward engine, purchased a year or so after the Knox was bought.

The purchase of a new car for the fire chiefs use is recommended, the old machine having been in continuous use since 1926, and has seen much hard service.

Fire Chief Stockman also asked for 1,000 additional feet of hose, and that enough money be placed in the contingency fund for repairs on buildings and apparatus and the purchase of necessary supplies for the fire department.

KING CAROL HAS

VIENNA, Jan. 10.—The novel written by Queen Marie of Rumania and objected to by King Carol as a thinly-veiled expose of his private affairs is "a work of pure fiction," her son-in-law, the Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, declared today.

While insisting that the book has not caused a rift between Marie and Carol, Anton admitted that the dowager queen had left Bucharest to spend a month with him and his wife, the former Princess Ileana, at Moeding Villa.

Is Purely Fiction.
"The novel is entitled 'Crowned Queens,'" Anton said. "But the title is a bit misleading. You know that publishers and not authors are mostly responsible for titles."

"The book has nothing to do with Queen Marie's memoirs, which are not completed and probably will not be published during her lifetime."

"The novel is a pure work of fiction and must be read as such," Archduke Anton said. "The dowager queen had made herself completely at home in his villa."

"We are so happy to have her," he said. "She has arranged her own apartment to her own taste. She spends much of her time writing."

McElwee Introduces Three New Measures In State Legislature

New Method Of Assessment Of Real Estate Is Proposed

Two Others Regard Use Of Local Labor On Projects

Among the bills which were introduced last night in Harrisburg by members of the House of Representatives, were three bearing the name of Hon. William McElwee, Jr., representative from the second district of Lawrence County. One of the bills concerns the use of local labor upon public works, a second concerns the use of labor which would be otherwise supported by the poor district, and the third is a somewhat revolutionary tax measure, which would revise the method of assessment of real estate.

The first bill provides that when municipalities let contracts for public improvements they may, under certain circumstances, require the contractor to employ local laborers if such laborers are willing, able and to properly perform the service.

The second labor bill provides that poor districts may make improvements for the district, using the labor which would otherwise be supported by the poor district, as a charity and may make contracts to furnish labor from the same source for municipal improvements in other municipalities, the poor district to be reimbursed if and only if the poor district is not co-extensive with the municipality for which the work is done.

Revise Assessment Method
The third bill is one that will undoubtedly be widely discussed by legislators, bearing as it does upon the assessment of real estate values in counties. Under existing law, the basis of county rates and levies is the market value of the real estate within the county. The assessors fix this value and though their judgment may sometimes differ from the judgement of others, yet that is the basis upon which present valuations are made and on which county taxes are levied.

Likewise the value so fixed is the basis for taxation in boroughs, townships and school districts. The McElwee bill proposes to establish a new basis which includes "what might be termed the 'potential income' of real estate, and actual annual incomes. Instead of the assessor fixing the market value he fixes the 'potential income' of the real estate if it were to be used for the best purpose it is available.

"This may seem hard to do when there is no income," said Mr. McElwee, "but it is no harder to do than to fix a market value when there is no market. This would relieve real estate of a tax upon it as such, but it would tend to discourage speculative holding of real estate without attempting to develop it, which would be the certain result of removing real estate wholly from its proper share of the support of local government and my plan would make real estate owned by non-residents, and which must be benefited by any permanent improvement, contribute to the improvement upon a just and equitable basis.

To remove all taxes from real estate, as some advocate would be a great injustice in the case of non-resident owners. To illustrate, many hundreds of acres in Pulaski township are owned by residents of Ohio. To free them of taxes altogether, and at the same time permit them to absorb the benefits of permanent public improvements would be unjust to the resident taxpayers. Their property has a potential income and on that the non-resident ought to pay taxes the same as the resident. Neither ought to pay taxes on the market value.

Income Tax

The bill also provides for an annual actual personal income on a basis very similar to the income tax bill which we had at the last extraordinary session which very closely followed the New York statute. For fear of constitutional entanglements the bill not being intended for the relief of any particular class but for the relief of all in general, contains no exemptions.

The land owner who has an actual income would pay taxes on both his actual annual income and the potential income of his real estate, but the potential income in his real estate would not be included in his actual annual income, thus avoiding double taxation.

The bills went into the legislative hopper last night in Harrisburg and local residents will watch the outcome of them with interest.

Fine Welcome Given Tully On Promotion To Clairton Plant

Robert J. Tully, formerly general superintendent of the New Castle works, Carnegie Steel company, who has been promoted to the assistant general superintendency of the huge Clairton works, largest by-product coke plant in the world, was given a rousing welcome by the townspeople of Clairton when he and General Superintendent Frank P. Marquard were welcomed in a community gathering.

Five thousand people attended the gathering, and among the speakers were I. Lamont Hughes, president of the Carnegie Steel company; Vice President L. H. Burnett and Henry J. Davis, the retiring general superintendent. It was a meeting designed to demonstrate to the new heads of the Clairton plant the fact that the citizenry of Clairton is back of them.

Merited Promotion.
Mr. Tully is a New Castle man, and as a boy attended the New Castle public schools. June 3, 1895, he began employment with the New Castle Nail Mill and in January, 1901, went to the Farrell works of the Carnegie Steel company. August 3, 1902, he returned to the New Castle plant as a machinist. From that position he was promoted to shop foreman, assistant master mechanic, master mechanic and then general superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Tully have been members of the First Christian church and fraternally Mr. Tully has been affiliated with the Masonic fraternity for many years, being a member of Mahoning lodge, New Castle Lodge of Perfection, chapter of the Princes of Jerusalem, council of the Rose Croix, and a member of the New Castle Consistory. He is interested in boys and served as president of the New Castle Y. M. C. A. and a director of the Margaret Henry Home. He also served as a director of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce. Hardly a man or woman in New Castle but knows "Bob" Tully either personally or by indirectness and his well merited promotion is met with universal approval here. He and Mrs. Tully will move to Clairton sometime near March 1.

Fruit Blooms On Trees Raised In East Side Home

An orange and a lemon tree at the home of Mrs. Abe Kildoo, 947 Maryland avenue, challenged one of Mother Nature's ordinances, and are victors.

They have both bloomed forth with as fine specimens of fruit as could be grown in California or Florida.

The orange tree boasts of five oranges, some of which are ripe. The lemon tree has a small green fruit and a ripe one fully as large as a grapefruit. This last mentioned lemon has been greatly admired by visitors to the Kildoo home. Mrs. Kildoo who has been in California, has never seen one quite as large as this.

MAKES WOMEN LOSE FAT

Miss Ren M. Kaines of Dayton, Ohio, writes: "I weighed 180 so started taking Kruschen. I never was so surprised as when I weighed myself the first week—I lost 7 pounds. I just bought my 3rd jar and am down to 145—am still taking them and never felt better in my life." (June 17, 1932).

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at Eckert's Drug Store, New Castle Drug Co. or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.

Almost Hundred Fire Alarm Boxes

Fire Chief Recommends That Several More Be Located In City

Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman, in his annual report prepared for submission to city council, shows that there are 92 fire alarm boxes in the city.

These are divided as follows: First ward, 13; second ward, 14; third ward, 10; fourth ward, 12; fifth ward, 14; sixth ward, 10; seventh ward, 14; eighth ward, 5.

Chief Stockman recommended to council that several additional boxes be placed, due to the fact that many residents have taken telephones out of their homes due to the depression, and that some of these people are residing a considerable distance from a fire alarm box.

OVER FOUR HUNDRED HYDRANTS IN CITY

Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman includes in his annual report, the statistics that there are 436 fire hydrants in the city. Of this number, 304 are owned by the city; 100 are owned by the water company; and 32 are located in industrial plants. One new hydrant was placed during the year; one was replaced, and 18 were repaired. Three were broken by trucks. There was 1,120 feet of new water main laid in the city, 710 feet of six inch pipe and 410 of eight inch pipe.

NEARLY 200 BILLS ALREADY BEFORE LEGISLATURE

Believe Records Are All Eclipsed

Second Week of Session Finds Avalanche Of Bills For Consideration

EARLY ADJOURNMENT FAVORED, HOWEVER

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Jan. 10.—Legislation laid before the General Assembly today continued to mount in volume. A total of nearly 200 bills introduced with the second week hardly underway was believed to have shattered previous records.

Despite this, the resolution fixing April 13 as the time for final adjournment was one of the first measures reported out of committee. The house rules committee reported the resolution favorably and the house passed it unanimously.

Among the first of the revenue-raising bills to appear was a series of bills sponsored by Rep. William A. Walker, Allegheny, taxing the production of gas, water and electricity. The measures would impose a tax of three-quarters of a cent on each one thousand gallons of water sent into the mains by service companies; a tax of one cent on each thousand cubic feet of natural or artificial gas produced; and a tax of one mill on each kilowatt hour of electrical energy generated for sale.

Rep. John L. Holmes, Centre, offered a bill to reduce salaries of legislators from $3,000 to $2,500. It would not affect present members. Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, Delaware, sponsored a resolution calling upon members to accept voluntary $500 cuts in their salaries for the current session. The resolution was laid over for printing.

Chief Cuts Down Teletype Noise

Has Cover Constructed, Which Eliminates Noise Of Machine

For some time past the noise made by the state wide police teletype system at its receiving apparatus in the central police station has been one of the more annoying circumstances of each day's work in the department.

Recently Chief Haven conceived the idea that the machine could be housed in such a manner as to eliminate a greater part of the noise. He has made a box with a wooden frame on which something like plaster board has been used for sides.

When this apparatus is put over the teletype machine, it covers every bit of it and so reduces the noise of operation that a few feet away, it can hardly be heard.

The box-like arrangement is so constructed that the top section may be lifted up at any time and the copy sent in removed from the machine.

Among the exhibits at the State Farm Show at Harrisburg next week will be one by the Lawrence County Wool Growers Association, who will show some of the finest fleeces clipped this winter.

Baby Slain In New York City

Police Hunt Slayer Of One Of City's Most "Inhuman" Crimes In Years

BABY STABBED LYING IN CRIB

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—"One of the most inhuman crimes in years" today cried to police for solution. Victim was a 4-month-old Frank Michael Cammarano, stabbed to death with a black-handled, six-inch stiletto as he slept in his crib at the home of his grandparents.

Striking with savage force, the murderer reached through an open window alongside the crib and drove the keen blade completely through the infant's body.

Police Probing

Apparently the slayer struck three times, two of the blows causing only slight scratches.

The murdered babe was discovered by his 16-year-old aunt, Teresa, when she tiptoed into the room to see if he was resting comfortably.

Inspector Henry Bruckmann, in command of Bronx police and detectives, attributed the murder to revenge or jealousy. He admitted, however, there was nothing definite to support the theory.

FLU EPIDEMICS CALL FOR PRECAUTIONS!

A Few Simple Rules that Will Put a Person on the Side of Safety!

While it does not pay to become alarmed over Flu, it does not pay either to be careless. Many a case of Flu could have been avoided with a few simple precautions.

Here are a few rules which may be wisely followed:

Stay out of crowded, stuffy and smoky places.

Stay in the sunshine as much as you can.

Avoid coughs and sneezes.

Dress warmly, keep your feet dry, sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Drink lots of water. Eat plentifully of citrus fruits and their juices.

Watch out for colds. The so-called "common cold" often paves the way for flu.

At the first sign of a cold, do something about it! One of the best things you can do is to take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately. These tablets are effective because they do four important things. They open the bowels, combat the infection in the system, relieve the fever and headache and tone the entire system.

Better still, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as a preventative of colds! A cold is easier avoided than cured. A cold anticipated is a cold thwarted. As a precautionary measure do what thousands are doing—watch your living habits and take one or two Bromo Quinine tablets every morning and night. That will keep your bowels open and combat germ attacks.

All drug stores sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Now two sizes—30c and 50c. No reliable druggist will try to sell you a substitute on any pretext. As a measure of safety, get a package today and keep it handy all winter.

College Floor Teams Facing Tough Battles

Only Two Tri-State League Games Carded For Remainder Of Week

TITANS-GROVERS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Westminster and Grove City will headline the Tri-State Conference floor games for this week. The scheduled Titan-Grover game is at Grove City Friday night. Geneva and Waynesburg will play at Waynesburg Thursday night in the only other Tri-State game of the remainder of the week.

However, plenty of the district teams will be in action this week in non-league contests. Thiel and Slippery Rock are tangling at Slippery Rock tonight, and the game should be a good one.

Bethany is over in Washington, Pa. to test the W. & J. flippers. Temple and Carnegie Tech are playing in Pittsburgh tonight. Temple will move on to West Virginia Wednesday night concluding a western jaunt.

Thursday night will find Allegheny at Buffalo, and the Geneva-Waynesburg battle. Friday night the Dukes of the Bluff will be at the Pitt Stadium against Dr. Carlson's Pitt Panthers outfit.

Titans-Groves Tech will battle Friday same night at the Tech floor in Pittsburgh, while Westminster and Grove City have their little get-together.

Saturday the Allegheny team will be at Greenville to oppose the Thiel team, and Bethany will tackle the "big stuff" at West Virginia.

Some mighty fine basketball games are on tap for this week, and the several weeks to come in the Tri-State district. The Titans of Westminster will be out to take the championship again this year and it is going to take a good team to upset them. Geneva, Grove City and Waynesburg loom as the biggest threats to the Lawthermen.

St. Marys defeated Boosters of Struthers 36 to 35 last night at St. Marys auditorium, North Beaver street. It was one of the best games at St. Marys this season. New Castle led at the half 22 to 14, but Struthers broke it in the second half and the local team emerged victorious by only one point. Lackey and Lasky caged 24 of St. Marys 36 points while T. Kaminsky and C. Slaven starred for Struthers.

Struthers Boosters girls won from the Yellow Jackets 18 to 14. Boys rules prevailed. Central Christians vanquished St. Marys Reserves in the first game of the night, 33 to 23.

May Increase Use Of Lateral And Quick Kick

Coach D. O. (Tuss) McLaughry of Brown has forecast an increased use of the lateral and quick kick in the next season. He has predicted that these methods of attack would be used much more than previously as coaches tried to reduce indiscriminate use of the forward pass.

"One of the important things, which few people realize, about modern football is that the attack in general is weaker than the strong defense which has been evolved," he is quoted in a New York story.

Notes Unbalanced Condition
An unbalanced condition between attack and defense is the reason for the wave of unorthodox forward passing that was so noticeable in 1932. Coaches were trying to bolster the attack up to a par with the defense, and in so doing apparently went to the extreme.

For this reason, McLaughry explained, the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association feels that indiscriminate

The Cosmos hold a pre-season 33 to 27 victory over this same team, at the St. Marys floor, and hope to repeat. MARTELLAS WANT GAMES
Martellas basketball team would like to arrange games with the following teams: Harlansburg, Plaingrove, East Brook, Neshaanock Rangers, Princeton, St. Vitus and Enon Valley. For games call 5255-W and ask for Albert.

As soon as they left some of their left hooks fly they were made financially and there wasn't a promoter in the East or West who didn't angle for their services. In fact, they fought from coast to coast, gulf to lake, and also in Australia.

Tom earned his laurels when he milled with Samuels, now a referee in New York, and Chip stepped into the limelight when he knocked out Frank Klaus at Pittsburgh. Before they had hung up the gloves they had fought here, there and everywhere.

Fought 'Em All
In the days of McMahon and Chip the stable which Jimmie Dime had was a veritable silver mine. In the stable was Babe Brannigan, another great fighter who fought as a bantamweight and a featherweight. He fought champions and near champions.

Tony Ross was one of the pathfinders of the stable. He was a big boy and clever for his size. Later on Joe Chip, a brother of George, took to fighting and he fought such boys as Champ Johnny Wilson, Al McCoy and Happy Littleton.

Battling Terry was another member at that time of the stable, and he met Howard Tremble, Paddy McFarland, Tommy Kilbane and all the good lightweight, as did Tommy Jones, who fought such good boys as K. O. Sweeney, Red Robinson, Young Fisher, Jimmy Duffy, et. al.

New Brighton Is Real Threat For New Castle Five

New Castle High Quintet Will Face New Brighton Here Friday Night

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh has outlined a lot of tough workouts for the New Castle high school basketball team this week. Friday night at the George Washington junior high floor they will oppose the strong New Brighton team, at present co-leaders along with New Castle and Beaver Falls, for the supremacy in section three.

The valleys by their 23 to 16 defeat of Butler high last week will give the Bridenbaugh team a lot of opposition, is the indication, and if New Castle is going to continue undefeated in sectional games they must take the New Brighton team into camp.

Will Lose Uram.

New Castle looked good against Rochester with their 31 to 8 score, but Rochester is not a strong team, and this gives no idea of just how much strength the New Castle team has. New Castle has the material this year, but they are rather green, that is, with the exception of Uram, Teplica and Reiber, and Uram will graduate at the end of the present semester, leaving Bridenbaugh to fill his shoes. Battle has been going good at the sub forward spot and may land the regular berth. Kelly, Miles, Hnat and Thomas are also showing up well.

Butler high had visions of taking the section three title this year until they hit New Brighton the other evening and now Coach Regis Heinzer has a tough job to keep the boys going. That was a tough game to lose and especially after eight straight pre-season victories. All of which only goes to show just how powerful this New Brighton high team must be.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner looks for a big crowd at the game Friday, as New Brighton will be followed here by perhaps 300 fans. The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

YESTERYEAR BATTLERS

Stable Contained Ross, McMahon, Dailey, Chips, Terry, Jones, Picato And Brannigan

DIME HAD GOOD CREW

Tom McMahon, once the bearer of the cruiserweights and the heavyweights, and George Chip, former middleweight champion of the world, met once again yesterday. They greeted each other like brothers when Tom returned from Cleveland for a few days visit.

And when they did meet it was a get-together of two of the huskiest "fightin' boys" that ever stepped beneath the lights of a ring. In their day they fought them all. They gave and asked for quarter and were a brace of battlers who went over big.

Were Jimmie Dime, the veteran trainer and manager of pugilists, to develop another two boys to the proficiency that Tom and George gained, there's no question but that even in days like we're now having here a brace of battlers would be fattened considerably.

George and Tom became acquainted around 1909. George came from a coal mine to join Jimmie Dime's stable and Tom McMahon left the camp of Billy Papke to carry the banner of Dime. Before they had been long with Dime they became punchers.

As soon as they left some of their left hooks fly they were made financially and there wasn't a promoter in the East or West who didn't angle for their services. In fact, they fought from coast to coast, gulf to lake, and also in Australia.

Tom earned his laurels when he milled with Samuels, now a referee in New York, and Chip stepped into the limelight when he knocked out Frank Klaus at Pittsburgh. Before they had hung up the gloves they had fought here, there and everywhere.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Tommy McGinty of Cleveland has announced that he plans to feature Johnny Risko at Miami Beach, Fla. either late this month or early in February. McGinty hopes to sign Max Baer. Baer and Risko have fought twice. Risko whipped Baer at Cleveland but lost to Baer on the Pacific coast. Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion and Pete Nebo probably will fight at Miami, February 23.

Craig Wood, New Jersey professional golfer, yesterday captured the eighth playing of the Los Angeles open meet with a sub-par 72 hole score of 281. Gene Sarazen, United States and British champion, returned after the third round in a state of collapse due to influenza. He scored a 74 for 221, and then confessed he would be unable to continue. He was taken to a hospital.

Lon Brouillard beat Horatio Velha in 10 rounds at Hartford, Larry Gains stopped Paul Hoffman in the sixth round at Leeds, Eng. and Bep Van Klaveran, European welterweight pounded out a 10 round decision over Phil Rafferty at New York last night.

Falcons To Play Ellwood Quintet

The fast Polish Falcons will play the Ellwood City Musketiers tonight at the Polish Falcon hall, and the Falcons Reserves will play the St. Phillips and James team, according to an announcement by Eddie Buzinski, manager of the team today. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock. The Ellwoodians are fast and expect to take the measure of the Falcons.

Lombardo, Ginochi, Mumford, Ostrosky. Teams wanting games with the Monicos can call 3177-R and ask for Tony or write to Joe Cooper at 634 Forest street.

DEHARTS TO MEET

Regular meeting of the DeHart A. C. will be held tonight at the home of Gordon Marks, Wednesday the DeHart team will play Campus Capers at Aliquippa.

SEEK GAMES

Division Five would like games with teams composed of players not yet 17 years of age. Write to Jack Richards or Frank Yocabel, 314 E. Division street.

CHALLENGE FALCONS

St. Vitus basketball team would like to play the Polish Falcons, West Pittsburgh, Neshaanock Rangers and good teams. Write John Fonzono, 306 Home street.

Present Prospects

At this writing Jimmie Dime is hopeful of getting Billy Joyce, lightweight, and Tom Farrow, lightweight, in the money realm. They have been fighting for some time. Tom's last appearance resulted in a knockout over Lee Clemens.

Another chap here who looks good and who is managed by the firm of Smith & Dygert is Homer Gray, the lad who knocked out Merle Gibson. Homer weighs 160 pounds and is a smart fighter. He gets around fairly well and has been winning consistently.

While it is true Gray knocked out Merle Gibson, the fact remains that Merle gave Homer his hardest fight. He had Homer on the floor before he passed out of the picture. Joe Alexander manages him and is anxious to get him gone.

Another boy who wants to make comeback is Mickie Solomon, in Alexander reports is in superb fighting condition. Once upon a time Solomon was a big card in Pittsburgh and Alexander believes Mickie isn't all through and could whip a lot of the newcomers.

Bob Latera is trying to manipulate Jack Kearns, the mountaineer, heavyweight, into a Pittsburgh ring. He has won 14 consecutive bouts. There are a lot of other local boys who are dallying with the padded gloves and are seeking fistic action.

Retired Chicago Coach Would Welcome Berth With Big Eastern School

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Some of these big universities are overlooking a good bet in not taking advantage of his 41 years of football coaching experience, said Amos Alonzo Stagg today, as he prepared to leave the hospital after a siege of influenza.

"These young go-getters and star players of recent vintage are all right as far as they go," said the 71-year-old veteran, "but they don't go far enough."

"What some of the striplings of five or six years coaching are trying to learn through experimentation, I already had learned before they were born."

"The trouble is, most colleges don't know a good coach when they see one. They have nobody who knows how to select a coach; nobody who knows just what the requirements of a coach must be."

COMMUNITY LIBRARY MOVED

One of the most significant changes made during vacation was that of moving the town library from a small room in the grade school to the high school study hall library. This gives the students free access to the books at any period during the day, and everyone may borrow books twice a week outside of school hours. These hours are

Monday from seven o'clock to nine and Thursday from five o'clock to nine o'clock.

With the books in their new location there is more space both for persons who may wish to use the study hall for a reading room as well as for the new books. Students especially will appreciate this arrangement as it simplifies the book report question and outside reading for their academic courses.

SUPERINTENDENT VISITS

C. B. Book, assistant county superintendent of schools visited Bessemer Friday afternoon for the purpose of taking pictures of the high school pupils, and of the grounds and equipment of the school.

Bessemer is proud to claim one of the best equipped and most advanced schools in the county, and we hope that Mr. Book's pictures may acquaint others with the excellent condition of our system.

On Monday evening Mr. Book will show moving pictures of the Shenango-Bessemer football game in the high school auditorium. At this time Mr. Fredericks' Tumbling club will provide further entertainment.

The faculty members took advantage of Christmas vacation to get about and see things educational and otherwise. Mr. McGarey spent a few days in Buffalo, Mr. Martin in West Virginia, Miss Fell in Chicago, Miss Landman in Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick in Amherst, Ohio.

The Art Club met Tuesday after school to continue their work with puppets.

STOCKS

Strength in Rails
Firms Up MarketSteel Stocks Are Steady—
Trading Is Reported
Quiet

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Fresh strength in the rails today brought a firm tone in the stock market in the face of further declines in wheat and other commodities and the uncertainty surrounding the U. S. Steel Corp. unfilled tonnage report at noon.

Opening prices were irregular with declines outnumbering gains, and prices dipped further in the first hour. Failure of liquidation to develop brought scattered buying for the advance and the market firmed up on light volume.

Strength in Union Pacific, which went up a point easily, attracted rallying tendencies in the carrier section and offset pressure on N. Y. Central and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Allied Chemical was an outstanding strong spot in the industrial section and ran up more than a point when the market firmed up.

Farmer stocks paid little attention to the sagging trend in grain prices and Montgomery Ward was an active issue in this division. Utilities were steady and coppers and oils dull.

Liggett & Myers B was strong in the tobacco section. Others in this group were steady.

Trading in stocks was quiet. Bonds continued firm with the recent upward tendency still in evidence.

Steel Tonnage Report
New York, Jan. 10.—Unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corp., last month showed a nominal decline of 161 tons, it was announced today, thus holding the corporation's tonnage above the record low of 1,966,302 tons established in July.

The corporation's unfilled orders at the end of December were 1,968,140 tons against 1,968,301 tons Nov. 30, 1,997,040 on Oct. 31, and 2,735,353 on Dec. 31, 1931.

The slight decrease came as a pleasant surprise to Wall Street, where predictions had been freely made in the last few days that the decline would aggregate at least 30,000 tons, bringing the backlog to a new record low.

The news was taken bullishly in speculative circles. U. S. Steel preferred rallied well over a point while the common, after holding steadily in the forenoon, turned strong. The rest of the market was stimulated as well.

Dickey Talks
On Crime WaveLions Club Hears Address On "Criminal Of Today" At NoonOLD TIME RELIGION
NEED, SAYS DICKEY

Attorney Thomas A. Dickey, in a luncheon address before the Lions Club, today prescribed "proper legislation" and "some good old-fashioned religion" as the only remedies that will recover America from the crime wave that now grips it from coast to coast.

"The Criminal of Today" was the theme Attorney Dickey was discussing, and his reference to a possible solution came after he had cited statistics that showed how the United States is today laboring under the spell of professional racketeers and criminals.

"Nothing under the shining sun will stop our crime wave but better laws and a new return to the good old-time religion," the speaker told the club. "Today criminals who should be back of the bars are free, and others, guilty of minor crimes, are associating with hardened criminals in the major penal institutions of our land."

Attorney Dickey said he was heartily in favor of trial by jury for criminal cases, but for civil suits preferred 20 a trial by the courts.

Delving into some unique characteristics of prisoners now confined, Mr. Dickey declared that figures show that the southern United States leads in the number of youthful criminals, that 50 per cent of the criminals as a whole are Methodists and Catholics, that 80 to 90 per cent of the convicts are better educated than their keepers, and that the parole system doesn't prove its worth so far as major criminals are concerned.

"If we had more major criminals getting 20 years of solitary confinement these days, the crime wave would begin to wane fast," Dickey commented as he closed.

The Lions Club today endorsed the "Buy American" movement now under way as a result of action taken by local war veterans.

floor leader announced Monday.A bill authorizing $100,000,000 federal challenged the governors to show

"We will prevent it from reaching the floor of the house if we can. Its passage would destroy the economy program."He explained that there is $35-000,000 available for federal road aid next year from previous appropriations.Writing the 14 governors, Rainey said: "May I call your attention to the fact that conditions now are unusual and that our deficits are now $100,000,000 a month in spite of the new and irritating taxes in force? I will greatly appreciate it if all the

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.For nice easy driving Monday would hardly rate very high. A "nasty" day if you ask me, one in which the rain froze on the windshield, the windshield wiper went haywire, and driving was an accomplishment for a contortionist.In spite of the drizzling rain that fell, soaking everything with a clammy, piercing blanket, the hitch hikers were on the highway, and I picked one of them up between here and Butler. A queer sort of lad, who said he had come from Aberdeen, S. D., and was on his way to Harrisburg to join the army.Why he had to come across the continent to join the army he didn't say, but farther along the road he wanted to know what the chances would be for a direct sale of shirts and clothing. Suggested to him that there weren't any merchants complaining about the overplus of business and that perhaps they might resent it.He had hitchhiked from Aberdeen to New Castle in about as good time as a tourist automobile would make it, and included stopovers in Chicago and Akron, O.The statement in The News recently that the pistol of Aaron Burr
Hamilton, being on display in Salt Lake City, is questioned rather vigorously by a resident of the Wilmington Road, R. T. Withers who insists that the pistol is on display over in a little village half way between Urbana and Bellefontaine.It seems that over in this section
there is a place called Mac-o-Chee Castle, sometimes known as Platt Castle, built by a man named Platt after the Revolution. Two brothers by this name received land grants for their work in the War, and each built a home fashioned after English castles.The great-great-granddaughter of one of these brothers is living in one of these old castles and she has the pistol which she claims is the authentic pistol with which Burr took Hamilton's measure.Mr. Withers speaks of the interesting things to be seen in the old place. A piano is there, over 100 years old, probably an old fashioned harpisichord, or perhaps a glocken-spiel. It came to this country from England to New Orleans, thence up the Mississippi on the steamboat, and thence by bull team.The paint on the walls was put there in 1848 and still looks as though it had been put there about two years ago. Now if some of us just had that recipe for painting the house.This same district has some of the caverns which are found so profusely in the Shenandoah Valley. Probably the same vein of limestone that runs from the Blue Ridge mountains on out into Ohio.Former New Castle Man Made PresidentPhilip J. Watson, Jr., Now Heads Kansas City Terminal RailroadThe many friends of Philip J.
Watson Jr., better known to his former associates as Jay Watson, will learn with pleasure and interest that he has just been elevated to the position of president of the Kansas City (Mo.) terminal railroad. This railroad, in handling the business of several railroads with which it connects, does an immense business, and the position of president is one of importance. Mr.
Watson has been general superintendent of the railroad for some time, having been with that road in various capacities since 1913.He will be remembered as a former high school student here, having been a member of the class of 1905. He later studied engineering at Princeton University. His first step in railroading was received here on the E. & A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad at the time that the now Sir Henry Thornton was superintendent of the division.
After working for a time on various roads in various parts of the country, he went with the Kansas City Terminal Railroad about 1913 and has been there ever since.Mr. Watson is a son of the late P. J. Watson, former resident of this city, who died recently, and who will be remembered as one of the most extensive real estate operators in the history of the city, being largely responsible for the expansion of the second ward to its present size.Release 900 More Rabbits In CountySix Missouri Shipments Reach
Game Warden Coen; Free
Them MondayThere were 900 more "cotton tails" bopping about through Lawrence county's woodlands today as a result of county Game Protector
Frank L. Coen's release Monday of the last of six shipments of Missouri-raised rabbits.Coen and his aides, receiving the cargoes from Versailles, Mo., immediately took them to the wooded section where they were freed."They're the finest rabbits we've received in years," commented the game warden. "They'll provide plenty of fun for hunters when the season comes."Storekeepers To Fight Sales TaxCorrelated Retail Organizations Join Forces To Work In LegislatureFight against the continuance of the emergency retail sales tax will be carried to the State Legislature by a strong organization, representing the small shopkeepers and retail storekeepers throughout Pennsylvania, during the present session of the legislature. This organization calls itself the Correlated Retail Organizations.The body has as its constituents members, the trades association into which the retail dealers are permanently organized, such as the state association of hardware dealers, retail grocers, electrical supply dealers, candy dealers, etc. The Correlated Organizations thus represents a strength of more than 100-000 retail store-keepers.It will lay before the Legislature early this month, the plea that the retail storekeeper cannot bear the tax or similar taxation, and weather the unabatedly bad business conditions. The direct membership of the Correlated Organizations is composed of officers and leaders in each trade organization in Pennsylvania.The outspoken intimation of legislative leaders and politicians in many parts of the state is that the legislature will seek to continue the emergency retail sales tax, and even to increase it. Although the Legislature, the framers of the measure in particular, plainly and admittedly intended that the tax should be passed on to the consumer, this effect has failed of operation. The principal reason is that the tax cannot be collected from the consumer on articles or commodities of less than a dollar retail sales price.
Seventy five percent of the sales of the retail stores represented in the group are under a dollar.Legion Sponsored "Buy American"
Campaign ApprovedPeople Of The City Awaken To
The Fact That It Means
Much To Them"Buy American," the nationwide movement, which is being sponsored by the American Legion and here in particular by Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion, has aroused favorable comment on every side and in every walk of life among the citizens of New Castle.It has awakened in the minds of the local people the belief of the American Legion that the United States is self supporting is not merely a fanciful or desired condition, but is a reality, providing every American citizen does his or her part.And it is something in which every citizen of this country can have a definite part, in other words, every person help themselves out of the conditions that have resulted from the depression. They help themselves every time they help other Americans by purchasing American Made products.The interest in the movement is spreading into the homes, the schools, the churches, the stores, the industries, in fact into every form of activity in the community.
American products represents high ideals in the production of goods and commodities for others, they are based on high standards of living, which is a purely American institution, on better homes, better schools, better working conditions in fact everything that tends for the betterment of the entire country.
And it must be remembered that when you say to your merchant, "is it American made" that you are helping bring back prosperity to the United States, which is in no sense
a selfish ideal, because a prosperous United States has always meant a prosperous world.ARSON RING BLAMED
